so now we're a university
a new name,
more money,
colleges instead of departments.

what does all this mean to us?
there's been a few changes . . . . .

UNIVERSITY
MONTEVALLO
1967 the S.G.A. began to mean student government, active representation and progress . . . finally

now we wear slacks
to class
no ties on sunday and the fledging no longer stands for complete anachronisms.

now girls can sign themselves out,
if they have the right permission.

and the people
leave,
whether the name's
a.c. or u. of m.
this place remains a suitcase college.

a meaningful experience.

and love . . .

the day to day routine that always begins too early on monday and drags on endlessly
while you listen for the ten til chimes

exams, a four letter word to any college student a campus wide obscenity that starts with

"dead week"
and ends in all night
cramming sessions

and this year there was snow, its still beauty was overshadowed by the excitement it caused a year in retrospect and memories of all these experiences this is only a brief collection, a montage, of all that was worth remembering about the university

Kermit A. Johnson, President, University of Montevallo.
B.S., University of Alabama; M.S., University of Alabama; Ed.D., Columbia University.

The first President of the University of Montevallo, Dr. Kermit A. Johnson is highly respected and loved by students, faculty, and everyone associated with the school. Since his first days here in February of 1968, Dr. Johnson has made many advances in establishing better relations and better means of communication between the administration and the student body. In addition to his membership in many professional and civic organizations, Dr. Johnson enjoys golf and photography. His wife, Mrs. Golda Johnson, and daughter, Judith Kay, compose his family.

The Deans of Men and Women are perhaps the best-known administration officials to the students. In addition to the task of housing, the Deans advise students on all matters, send job and graduate school recommendations, and administer the rules and regulations of the school.

Ruth E. Coffman, Dean of Women.

James R. Wilkinson, Dean of Men.

Marie A. Oesterling, Director, Placement Bureau. Assistant Professor, College of Business.

Kermit Mathison, Director of Admissions and Records.

Ralph Sears, Director of Public Relations.

administration

The Administration Department is one of constant hard work. Admission of students, public relations, finances, records, health services, alumni information, and supervision of students are among its tasks. The work of this department is undoubtedly vital to the smooth functioning of the University of Montevallo.

Laura Frances Mathison, Director of Alumni Affairs.

Robert B. Somers, Director of Libraries

Darold L. Dunlavy, Assistant Director of Alumni Affairs.

Lee A. Barclay, Sr., Business Manager and Treasurer.

Bessie M. Elliott, Assistant Treasurer.

Frank Lessley, Director of Operations.

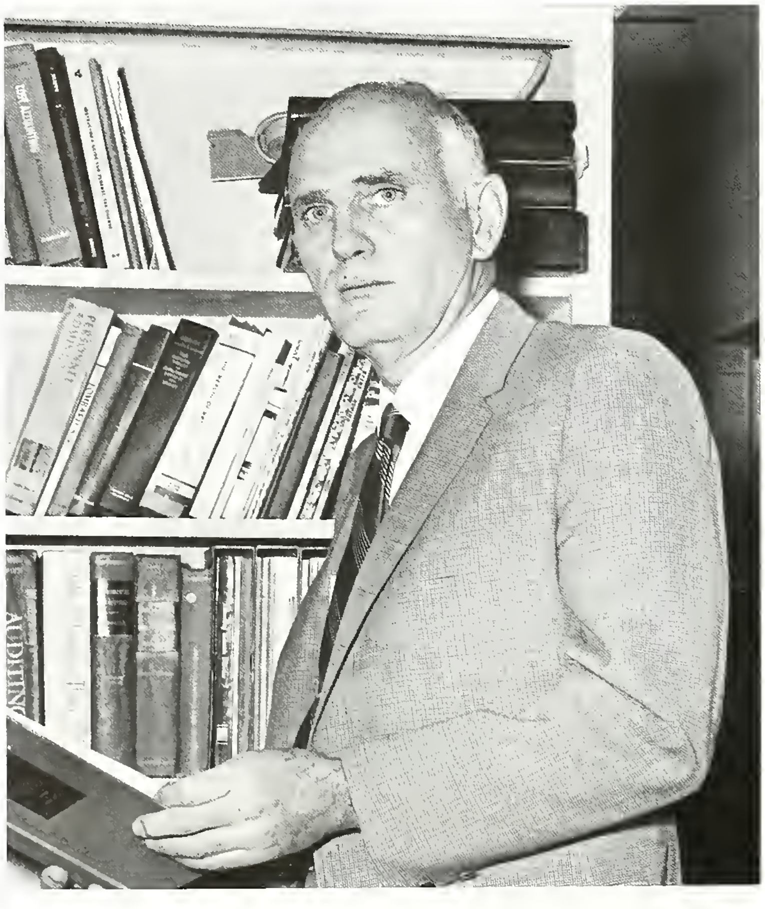
College of Business

This is the first year of the University of Montevallo and the first time that the departments have been divided into colleges. The first college is that of Business. Headed by Dr. Allen L. Terry, it plays a large role in developing tomorrow's business leaders. Students in this field may learn typing, shorthand, accounting, and computer programing, as well as the responsibilities and management of business organizations.

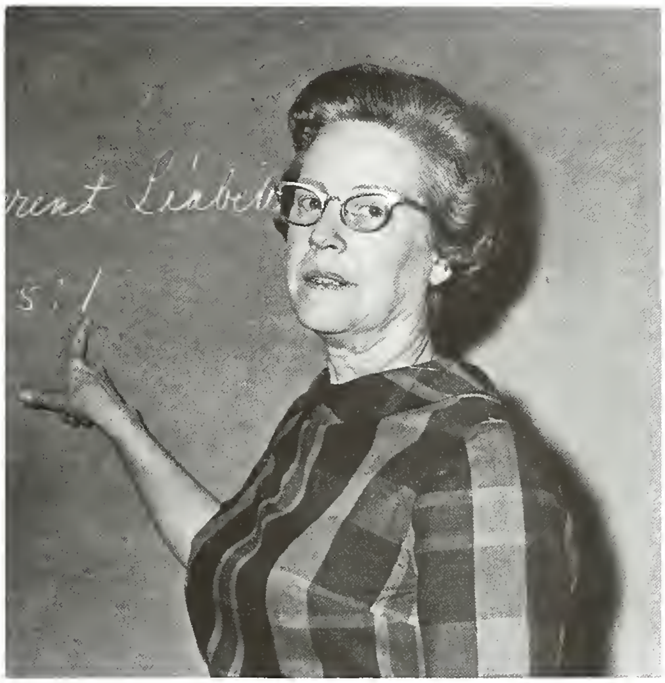
Allen L. Terry, Dean of the College of Business.
B.S., M.B.A., Ph. D., University of Alabama.

John E. McKinnon, Director of Computer Center, Instructor.
B.S., Alabama College; M.B.A., University of Alabama.

Chester H. Bigger, Professor and Associate Dean.
B.S., University of Florida, M.B.A., Mississippi State University;
Ph. D., University of Alabama.
Member of Beta Gamma Sigma, Sigma Alpha Sigma, and the Academy of Management.



Sara Posey Morgan, Associate Professor.
B.S., Asheville College; M.S., University of Tennessee; Doctor of Jurisprudence, Samford University.



Kate C. Sneed, Associate Professor.
A.B., Alabama College; M.S., University of Tennessee.

Alan L. Livingston, Jr., Assistant Professor.
B.S., M.A., University of Alabama.

LaVondra Harding, Instructor.
B.S., Alabama College; M.A. University of Alabama.

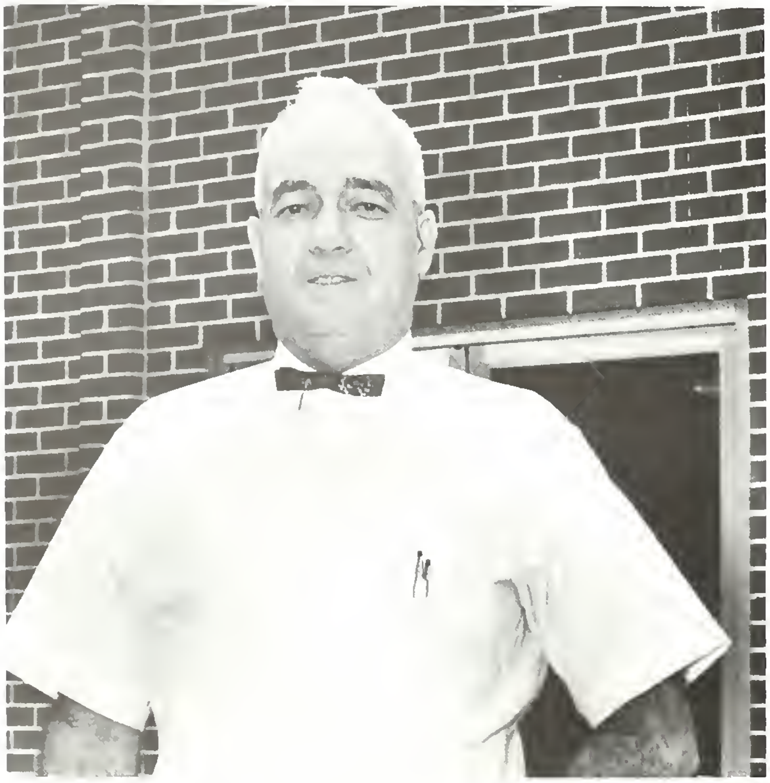
Charles R. Strong, Associate Professor.
B.S., M.S., Oklahoma State University; member of the American Institute of C.D.A.

college of education

The second of our colleges is that of Education. Under the guidance of Dr. B. E. Fancher, this college's aim is teaching others to teach to better America's education. The Departments of Education and Health, Physical Education and Recreation, which comprise this college, carry on extensive work during the summer sessions, retraining teachers and offering graduate work toward an M.A.T. degree.

B. E. Fancher, Dean.
B.S., Southwestern State, Oklahoma; M.Ed., University of Oklahoma; member of Phi Delta Kappa, Department of Audio Visual Instruction, National Education Association; consultant for Universal Educational films and Encyclopedia Brittanical films; president of Alabama Educational Media Association; many articles published in educational journals.

Frances O. Cannon, Associate Professor.
B.S., Jacksonville State College; M.A., Ed.D., University of Alabama; member of Association for Student Teaching, Association for Childhood Education, Kappa Delta Pi, Delta Kappa Gamma.



Charles L. Gormley, Professor.
A.B., Fresno State College; Ed.D., Stanford University; was graduated with highest honors, recipient of Pi Gamma Mu Award; member of Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Delta Kappa.

Lonnie E. Zumalt, Assistant Professor.
B.A., Colorado State College; Ed.D., University of Alabama; research consultant to Alabama Vocational Rehabilitation Service; teacher, consultant and counselor for the Government of Guam.

Alvis T. Harthern, Assistant Professor.
B.A., Florida Southern College; M.A., Florida State University; Ph.D., University of Alabama; elected to Outstanding Young Women in America in 1968.

Robert M. Lightfoot, Assistant Professor.
B.S., Troy State College, M.A., University of Alabama.

Nell A. Malone, Associate Director for the EDPA Project.
B.S., M.A., Ed.D., University of Alabama; member of Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Beta Alpha.

Lawrence L. Malone, Associate Professor.
B.S., Livingston University; M.A., Ed.D., University of Alabama; member of Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Kappa Phi Kappa.

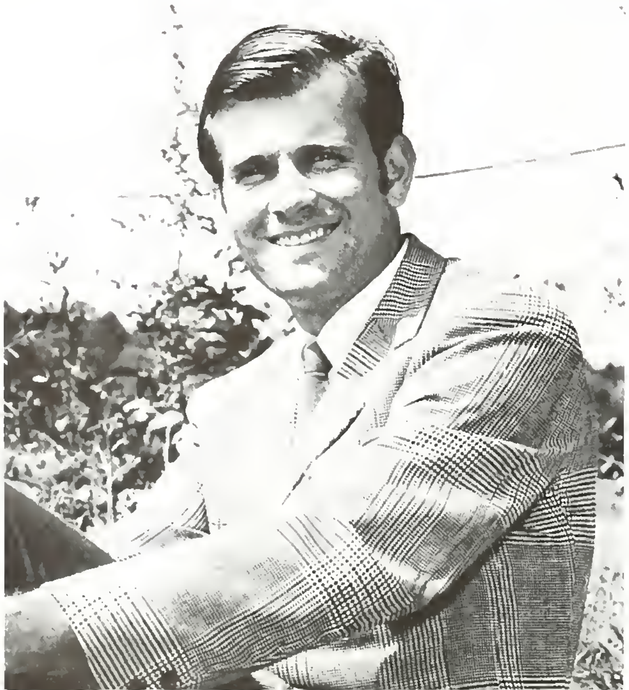
health, physical education, and recreation

Headed by Dr. Ward Tishler, the Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation stresses the need of physical fitness. Its activities, health, and first aid courses, are open to all students; specialized courses train majors and minors for teaching and coaching. The year-round Intramural Sports Program is also open to all interested students and is a major part of the University's activities.

J. Ward Tishler, Chairman-Professor.
B.S., M.Ed., Texas A & M University; Ed.D., University of Wyoming.

Leon G. Davis, Associate Professor and Coordinator of Athletics.
B.S., Troy State University; M.Ed., Auburn University; Ed.D., University of Alabama; member of Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Delta Kappa.

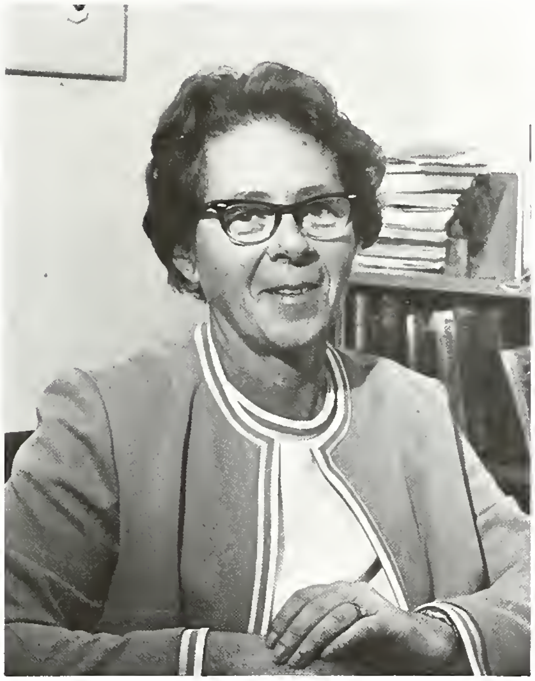
Linda Jean Hammett, Instructor.
B.S., Central Missouri State College; M.A., Texas Woman's University.



Thomas M. Fleming, Assistant Professor and Baseball Coach.
B.S., M.E., Stephen F. Austin State College.

Jeannette Crew, Associate Professor.
A.B., Judson College; M.S., University of Tennessee.
A.B., Judson College; M.S., University of Tennessee; past Alabama State Dance Chairman, Orchesis sponsor.

Frank Lightfoot, Associate Professor.
B.S., M.A., Auburn University; member of Phi Dleta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi.



Miriam Collins, Professor.
B.S., Georgia State College for Women; M.S. University of Tennessee; Ed.D., University of Alabama.

Bill Jones, Assistant Professor—Head Basketball Coach.
B.S., Florence State University; M.A., Peabody College; A.A., University of Alabama.

Margaret Blalock, Assistant Professor.
B.S., Alabama College; M.A., University of Alabama; member of the American and Alabama Associations of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation.

College of Liberal Arts

The College of Liberal Arts is the largest of our three colleges. Headed by Dean John B. Walters, former Dean of the College of Alabama College, it boasts eleven departments and eighty-eight faculty members. Majors and minors are offered in the arts, sciences, languages, and social sciences.

John B. Walters, Jr., Dean.

Art

The Department of Art is led by Dr. Thomas D. Turpin. Courses range from basic design and foundations, open to all students, to advanced study in sculpture, painting and ceramics. There are also courses in the history of art and methods of teaching art.

Charlotte D. Blackmon, Assistant Professor.
A.B., Alabama College; M.A., University of Alabama.

William S. Cobb, Assistant Professor.
B.A., Livingston State College; M.A., Vanderbilt University.

Joyce T. Fuller, Instructor.
A.B., University of Georgia; M.A.T., Vanderbilt University; member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Sarah F. Puryear, Associate Professor.
A.B., Vanderbilt University; M.A., Peabody College; member of Eta Sigma Phi, Chi Delta Phi.

Elizabeth H. Rodgers, Assistant Professor.
B.A., Salem College; M.A. Emory University; member of Sigma Tau Delta; Oslo Scholar; listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Sarah Palmer, Assistant Professor.

Anne Malone, Assistant Professor.

Warren Bruce McClanahan, Chairman-Associate Professor.
B.S., Alabama College; M.A., Ph.D., Louisiana State University; member of Kappa Mu Epsilon, Pi Delta Phi, Delta Theta Pi, Eta Sigma Phi, Phi Sigma Iota, Phi Kappa Phi; recipient of Phi Beta Kappa Faculty Award, NSF Fellowship.

foreign languages

The Department of Foreign Languages offers four languages to students—French, German, Latin, and Spanish. Students may major in French or Spanish and minor in German or Latin. Headed by Dr. McClanahan, the department provides courses that range from grammar and vocabulary to the history and culture of the lands and peoples of these languages.

Robert James Harris, Assistant Professor.
B.A., Carroll College; B.S., M.A., University of Alabama; member Phi Delta Kappa; American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

Joseph F. DiOrio, II, Associate Professor.
A.B., Dickinson College; M.A., Middlebury College.

Richard W. Thames, Assistant Professor.
A.B., University of Alabama; M.A., Mississippi State University; member of Delta Phi Alpha; recipient of NDEA and Fulbright grants.

Charles E. Majure, Assistant Professor.
A.B., Millsaps College; M.A., Emory University; member of Pi Delta Phi, Phi Sigma Iota.

Milton Ray Mayfield, Assistant Professor.
A.B., Birmingham-Southern College; M.A., University of Alabama; member of Phi Sigma Iota, Phi Alpha Theta, Sigma Delta Phi; recipient of NDEA and Fulbright grants.

home economics

The Department of Home Economics functions under the leadership of Dr. Rebecca Pate. Students may major in vocational home economics education, retail economics, and institutional economics. The Department operates a nursery school and a Home Management House to give students practical experience in their chosen field.

Rebecca Pate, Chairman-Professor.
B.S., Auburn University; M.S., Ph.D., Iowa State University; member of Omicron Nu, Phi Kappa Phi, Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Omicron Upsilon.

Kathryn S. Turner, Assistant Professor and Director of Nursery School.
B.S., Oklahoma State University; M.S., Iowa State University.

Johnnie C. Carlisle, Assistant Professor.
B.S., Alabama College; M.S., Columbia University; recipient of a National Teaching Fellowship grant for advanced study.

Eleanor C. Johnston, Associate Professor.
B.S., M.S., University of Minnesota; member of Kappa Delta Pi, Delta Kappa Gamma, Phi Lambda Theta; membership awarded by the South Dakota Future Homemaker of America.

Sara Nell Lightsey, Associate Professor.
B.S., Alabama College; M.A., University of Alabama; member of Alabama Home Economics Association; past state Parliamentarian; past advisor for two years of Student Religious Association on campus.

Julia Rotenberry, Assistant Librarian.
B.A., Alabama College; B.S., University of North Carolina.

LIBRARY

Carmichael Hall is a vital building on our campus, serving as a place of quiet study, individual research, or even group study and meetings. It houses the many books, newspapers, periodicals and records that are available not only to the students and faculty, but also to the town as well. The task of directing belongs to Mr. Robert Somers, whose staff includes many fine librarians and assistants as well as student workers.

Mrs. Lois Van Ells, Reference Librarian.
B.S., Wisconsin State University; M.S., Our Lady of the Lake College.

General Assistants: Mrs. Jean Edwards, Mrs. Ellen Corbett.

ORGANIZATIONS

marie yancey, editor

student government association

Because we are now a university, our Student Government Association recognizes that it must change to meet the demands of a rapidly increasing enrollment and a more aware student body. Our S.G.A. has worked to change and modify our handbook and dress regulations and to increase communications by establishing a P.A. booth in the main cafeteria.

The three branches of our government, executive, legislative, and judicial, each function differently to serve student needs. In the executive area, President Jim Dennis coordinates all S.G.A. activities and Vice President John Wible serves as moderator of Senate affairs. Also found in this area is the Executive Cabinet which composed of the chairman of each S.G.A. committee introduces, plans and presents all activities sponsored by our student government. Jo Ann Ceravolo, S.G.A. secretary, keeps a record of all meetings and proposals. The Senate functions legislatively to introduce new bills, change regulations and work through various committees to make our student government a vital part of campus life. The Senate's membership is comprised of representatives from each class and from the commuters, and weekly meetings give this legislative body the opportunity for active participation in student government. The Student Court, with its membership of nine students, handles the majority of student cases. The court solicitors, Jim Cole and John Carothers, conduct the investigation and prosecution of each case and the Chief Justice, Bill Sumner, elected by the court, presides at all proceedings.

These three branches work mainly behind the scenes; students remember the S.G.A. for the special activities that it sponsors: Drives' Week, Elite Night, the Annual Beauty Ball, newly begun University Day and for dances and concert series, this year featuring the Brooklyn Bridge.

Ratting and Rat Court

School begins and so does the time-honored tradition of ratting. This special week is set aside to welcome freshmen and make them realize their place in university life. Among the most ardent participators in rat week are those sophomores who cannot easily forget their own experiences and those freshmen who plan to rat like hell next year.

Ratting came to a climax when freshmen were put on trial at Rat Court. A select group of freshmen appeared before a panel of judges and received their sentences. Covered with flour, syrup, and special concoctions the weary trooped back to their dorms plotting revenge.

Drives Week

Each year our S.G.A. sponsors a week filled with various activities to raise money for a special project. Drives Week 1970 was no exception as the social clubs and other organizations worked hard for a successful project. Beginning with the Circle K Blood Drive, activities held during the week varied from the annual Omega shoe shine to a pie throwing booth to to a powder puff football game between the Kappa and Omega social clubs. Not only were upperclassmen sold but Delta's also sponsored a faculty auction to round out the week's activities.

college night

College Night cannot be pictured any easier than it can be described to someone who has not been involved in it. It's two weeks of hard work that doesn't seem any longer than two days; it's excitement, anxiety, loss of sleep, happiness and sorrow; it's an intangible feeling of participation in a cause that is very real; College Night is all this and much more. All that can be done is to try and capture the many moods of College Night and to present these memories.

This year College Night was dedicated to Bobby Jenkins who has always played an important part in the backstage work that makes the productions. Leaders this year for the Purples were Susan Clarke and Jim Cole, and for the Golds Jan King and Charlie White.

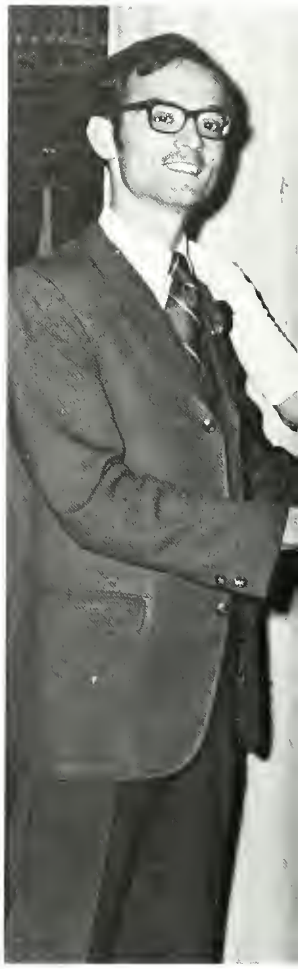
Here are thirty of the forty class beauties.

Annually presented, Elite Night, is an opportunity to honor beauty, scholarship and leadership as exemplified by university students. Presented at this year's event were forty beauties, consisting of ten representatives from each class, Senior Elite, Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, and candidates for class favorites and Mr. and Miss University of Montevallo.

Chairman for Elite Night, Garry Mitchell; and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Chichester, who emceed the evening's entertainment.



Dr. Connell, affectionately known as Dr. Rock, received the dedication.

Under the leadership of Sherry Smith, Thetas always keep in mind certain principles, among these high moral standards for its members, the development of leadership ability and the encouragement of scholastic achievement.

Being a service as well as a social club is an important facet of Alpha Theta Pi. This year members sponsored the Elite Night Tea, decorated a float for Homecoming and U Day, held the annual Easter Egg Hunt for the children of the Speech and Hearing Clinic, and participated in Drives Week. Socially the Thetas held a spring formal dinner dance for members and dates, several informal parties and two banquets, one at Christmas and one for the installation of new members.

Omega Tau Omega offers its members the opportunity to grow socially and at the same time be a service to the University of Montevallo. Omega sisters are united in a sincere effort to improve themselves, their club and their campus through the spirit of scholarship and friendship.

Omega activities for this year included their annual Shoe Shine for Drives Week and also for this same purpose a powder puff football game. Omegas sponsored several dances including the Omega Round-Up and the Yellow Rose Formal, which annually features the Omega ideal. Participating actively in Greek Week as well as U Day activities, Omegas are recognized not only for their participation in all campus activities, but for their representation as Montage beauties.

The purpose of Phi Kappa Lambda is to stimulate its members to participate in all school functions and to further the friendly atmosphere on campus.

Activities of the Kappas exemplify that they are a social as well as a service sorority. This year a Banana Split party for the school was held, the Ugliest Man on Campus Contest was sponsored and a Powder Puff Football Game was held to raise money during Drives Week. Other activities were a Christmas dinner dance for members and alumni, a spring dance for the student body, a house party at Fort Walton Beach, a Mother-Daughter Tea, a Valentine's party and an Installation Banquet in May.

Despite their many activities, Kappas find time to make trips to Partlow School to visit Jackie Crowe, a boy that they have adopted.

Striving to promote individuality without losing the concept of brotherhood, makes the purpose of Chi Alpha Tau's unique. Actively involved in campus life, Xat's decorated the gym for University Day and also won first place in gym decorations for their caricatures of the basketball team, Other projects were keeping the King Cemetery, making a float for the University Day parade, participating in the Circle K Blood Drive, and in general rush.

Granted their charter in 1963, the Delta's are now a chapter of Delta Chi. The members have worked hard to live up to their motto "In medias res." Delta Kappa provides its members with a sense of brotherhood and fellowship while taking part in various campus activities. This year members participated in the fourth annual padded football game with Theta Sigma Chi, participated in the Homecoming parade, held a faculty auction for Drives Week and sponsored a bonfire pep rally for our first home game in basketball.

For the Pi Alpha Fraternity, the year of 1968-70 was one of continued success as of past years. Placing first in intramural football, volleyball, and basketball proved their power in athletics. Their emphasis on scholarship was demonstrated by winning the grades trophy for the third consecutive year, thus retiring it. This trophy is awarded annually to the fraternity with the highest scholastic average. The closeness of the Pi Alpha Brotherhood comes out strongly in their social gatherings, pledge parties, and spring banquet.

Jim Johnson

Theta Sigma Chi was founded with certain objectives in mind, including the principles of brotherly love, good fellowship, and the cultivation of moral and intellectual facilities.

During the year the Sigmas sponsored their annual Jungle party, participated in a padded football game with the Deltas and also in the University's intramural program. To promote Christmas spirit, Sigmas decorated a Christmas tree in front of the sub and had a Christmas party; events for the spring include an Old South party and a Banquet in May.

Members of Theta Sigma Chi are active in campus activities, student government and College Night.

Meisters' capture the intramural championship twice in a row.

men's football intramurals

Without football, what would Fall be! Boys at the university here must make up for the loss of a regular football team by spending all available afternoons participating in flag ball. The season this year opened on September 29 with teams from each floor in the residence halls, social clubs and commuters participating.

Flag ball is played similar to touch, the difference being that the opponent must capture a flag rather than touching the ball carrier. As the season progressed competition and excitement increased, and was heightened by the championship play offs which saw the Meisters emerge as intramural football winners.
